PRICE THREE CENTS

PRICES TUMBLE AS QUIZ GOES ON

Warfare Against Contractor-Dealer-Labor Combines in Metropolitan Area Meets With Success

UNTERMYER ELATED

Resultant Price Reductions Bear Out Attorney's Prediction of More Than a Year Ago

New York, Nov. 19.—Disintegration of the contractor-dealer-labor combines, forming New York's alleged "building trust," has begun and prices of construction materials have tumbled over and dropped since active warfare against these interests was opened. It was revealed today by witnesses before the joint legislative committee conducting the investigation. Increased productivity of labor also has been apparent since the investigating committee began exposing one scandal after another and the grand jury started returning indictments, employers testified.

More Price Control Evidence
Mixed with these developments came evidence to show existence of countrywide control of production and prices in marble, cement, limestone and other trades. National associations are threatening these industries, it was alleged.

More than a year ago, Samuel Untermyer, counsel for the investigating committee, declared if given an opportunity to conduct an inquiry into these "combinations," he could send prices tumbling and today as his questions brought replies showing his predictions have come true, he seemed the happiest man in the big crowd that jammed the committee's chamber.

Testimony that the cement trade of the entire country is under the absolute control of a national association and that there is a very rock-bound agreement in the granite and marble industry, was given by Hugh White, vice president of the George A. Fuller Construction company, one of the largest concerns of its kind doing business throughout the United States.

He expressed the hope that he might soon see "competition" in building materials, trades and labor. Mr. Untermyer added he wanted to release labor from "the thralldom of blackmail."

Policeman Assisted Brindell.
Proceedings of the day also brought forth evidence that a policeman, Stephen Birmingham, was granted six months' leave from the police department, while he worked under Brindell in the "compensation bureau" of the Building Trades council.

It also was revealed that after the court house site had been excavated, the street cleaning department had been allowed to dump the ashes there and that the city was paying approximately $200,000 to clean it up again.

Collusion in building among the contractors and dealers in brick, cement, sand, marble and other building materials, was intimated during Mr. White's testimony. A mass of estimates, unvarying in amounts, and with even the wording absolutely "uniform" submitted to the Fuller company by dealers in various materials was offered in evidence. Correspondence of that company to various cement manufacturers asking direct sales of cement and replies refusing the request also were submitted.

Mr. White declared his company before asking for estimates from various dealers, knew there was "no use" in having more than one, but always held the hope that a "break" would come. The Cement Men's National association has divided the country into districts, he testified. Manufacturers will not sell to dealers outside the sphere assigned to them. Similarly, dealers will not deal with contractors beyond their designated territory.

Tells of Cement "Combine."
George Atwell, a demolition contractor, also testified to nation-wide control of the cement business. He told of an instance in which he was not permitted to buy cement, because he was not a member of the association. Both witnesses cited recent price reductions. Mr. Atwell declared brick dropped from $39 a thousand to half that amount, while Mr. White also spoke of their decline.

A saving of $37,000 was made by the Fuller Construction company in two months, White testified, by getting lower than expected estimates on several hundred thousand dollars' worth of work. He added that not only have prices come down, but the company's unit labor cost in the last two or three weeks show more productivity for the men than before the investigations started, and I have had the same statement made to me in reference to the subcontractors by their representatives.

As an example of reduced material cost he cited an estimate he had until five or six weeks ago on a certain stone job for $52,000. Ten days ago he said the contract was closed for approximately $38,000.

"Now does it come that you are able to get a second bid?" asked his interrogator. "You know that under the code of practice—you know what that was?"

"Yes," replied Mr. White. "Often we or any other contractor had requested bids on certain lines no one else could

TAKES FIRM STAND TOWARDS RADICALS

Sharp Restriction of Immigration Is Also Newly Adopted Policy of Labor

Washington, Nov. 19.—(By The Associated Press).—The executive council of the American Federation of Labor concluded its work here tonight without making any formal announcement as to what had been accomplished during its two weeks of discussion. Although members of the council, including President Gompers, of the federation, were disinclined to talk of proceedings in the executive session, it is known that certain programs were discussed which by common consent will practically become policies of the organization. These include what was described as a healthy stand against radicalism within organized labor and for sharp restriction of immigration.

There was also an almost unanimous agreement among the labor heads, it is understood, for closer cooperation between labor and industrial engineers. In this, labor leaders believed they were accomplishing the dual purpose of eliminating waste and inefficiency and creating an atmosphere which would foster greater production, the council was said to have made plain in its discussion its realization of world needs in this respect, and members of the council held that labor's conduct should be such that no blame for low output could attach to the workers.

It was said that council members had planned a series of conferences with industrial experts looking to a gradual establishment of a cooperation which many deem invaluable. Unqualified support is said to have been given the stand against radicalism, within and without organized labor.

HINT FOREIGN GRIP ON SHIPPING BOARD

Intent to Help Foreign Competition Is Alleged by E. F. Luckenbach, a Ship Owner

New York, Nov. 19.—Present and former "high officials" of the United States shipping board will be asked to testify before the Walsh congressional committee now investigating the board's affairs, it was indicated here today.

During the session today William Denman of San Francisco, who was the first president of the Emergency Fleet corporation and the first active head of the shipping board, and around whom much of the "wooden ship" controversy of 1917 centered, appeared and volunteered to testify. He was informed by Chairman Walsh that the committee expected to hear all of the officials. Denman was told the committee would hear him before he returned to the Pacific coast.

Following the Thanksgiving holidays the members of the committee expect to go to Washington for the opening of congress.

Allegations that foreign interests and men who "had always been opposed to the upbuilding of an American merchant marine" had worked their way into subordinate positions with the shipping board with the intent of helping foreign competition, were made by Edgar F. Luckenbach, a ship owner and operator. He said that among the alleged favorite firms in allocation of ships were subjects of Great Britain. He testified he did not include in this indictment any of the board officials, and he added there were others beside himself who "felt" that foreign interests were favored.

DECEMBER MILK ONE CENT LOWER FOR NEW YORKERS

New York, Nov. 19.—The price of milk next month will be one cent a quart lower, the Dairyman's league announced here tonight. The directors of the league, acting on authority given by $8,000 dairy farmers supplying the New York market, voted to sell December milk at $3.35 per 100 pounds for average milk, a reduction of 47 cents a 100 pounds, or one cent a quart under the November price.

The decrease, it was stated, resulted from the farmers' desire to put the price of milk on a pre-war basis.

come in after those first bids were received. We couldn't go into open competition and obtain any other bids. We had to restrict ourselves to the original bidders."

"That has been disrupted?"

"Yes, I think it has."

Atwell swore to paying more than $17,000 tribute to Brindell and declared that he had never gone to the "chrome" without being sent for. He knew of five expensive and luxurious automobiles owned by Brindell in the city and understood that he had other machines in the country.

Brindell invited him to his home in one of the cars recently but the building king's chauffeur in taking him off back toward his own abode let him off at a subway station.

DEBATE ENEMY STATES STATUS

Delegates to Geneva Assembly Seem Reluctant to Propose Germany's Admission to League

OPINION IS DIVIDED

Germany Formally Protests Against Distribution of Mandates For Her Colonies

Geneva, Switzerland, Nov. 19.—(By The Associated Press).—Mandates, open diplomacy and the admission of former enemy states to the League of Nations furnished today material for discussion in the assembly of the League of Nations. For the first time the word "revision" was pronounced in connection with Article 18 of the covenant of the League, which provides for the registration of treaties or international engagements. For the first time also the viewpoint of labor as regards the League was presented.

The views of labor were presented by George Nicol Barnes of the British delegation who gained applause when he declared "a general peace is impossible until we have industrial peace, and industrial peace is impossible until labor gets its full share of the products of its own efforts."

Twice again the admission of former enemy states in the League was advocated. Labor was quoted by Mr. Barnes as in a large majority demanding it. There now have been represented in the demands for admission of the former enemy states, South Africa, Great Britain, Switzerland, Argentina and Scandinavia. It still appears, however, that no one of the delegation is ready to take the initiative of proposing the election of Germany to membership.

It is now generally considered that the question lies entirely with the committee as delegates who hesitate to propose Germany's admission from the floor of the assembly, are quite free at bringing up a discussion in committee.

Opinion is about equally divided between the probability of postponing admission of all former enemy states, until the next meeting of the assembly, and the admission of all of them, except Turkey, during the present session.

A protest by Germany against the manner of the distribution of mandates for her colonies today created a marked impression in the assembly, particularly on account of the fact that it was addressed to the council of the League of Nations. Germany consistently has maintained the attitude that the council of the League of Nations does not possess sufficient authority to deal with such questions, since a majority of its representatives form a group of former belligerents and that the assembly alone is representative of the entire League and therefore competent to deal with the question.

Declares Bonds Broken.

Geneva, Switzerland, Nov. 19.—(By The Associated Press).—The German government no longer considers itself bound by the clauses of the Versailles treaty by which Germany surrenders her colonies to the Allies, according to an official note of protest which has been presented to the League of Nations.

The note declares that the Allies have not fulfilled their undertakings regarding the clause of the treaty concerning the allotment of the German colonies and mandates. It adds that, having signed the pact of the League of Nations, Germany understood she would be admitted to the League and consequently take part in its allotment of mandates, but that now she no longer considers herself bound by that clause of the treaty.

Demands Assembly's Consideration.

Berlin, Nov. 19.—The German government has addressed a further note to the League of Nations, reiterating its previous contention that the allocation of the districts of Euten and Malmédy should be dealt with by the assembly and not by the council of the League of Nations.

MUNSEY BUYS TWO PAPERS PUBLISHED IN BALTIMORE

Baltimore, Md., Nov. 19.—General Felix Asmus, the veteran publisher of the Baltimore American and the Baltimore Star, will announce in the American tomorrow that on December 1, the American and the Star will pass under the control of Frank A. Munsey, owner of the Baltimore News, the New York Herald, the New York Sun, the New York Telegram and other publications.

The American is one of the oldest newspapers in the United States. Publication of the Star will cease with Mr. Munsey's acquisition of the properties, and the plants of the News and the American will be consolidated and the American's publication plant, in Mr. Munsey's building, will be continued under the same name.

LICENSE FIFTEEN WOMEN AS METHODIST MINISTERS

Chicago, Nov. 19.—Fifteen women have been licensed as preachers in the Methodist Episcopal church since this right was granted last May by the general conference of the church. Miss M. Madeline Southard reported here today. Miss Southard is president of an association of women preachers in the United States and Canada that represents fifteen denominations. She is director of evangelism of the Epworth league.

PERFECT WEATHER ASSURED HARDING

Trip to Cristobal, Panama, Will Be Under Clear Skies, President-Elect Is Promised

Aboard Steamship Parismina, Nov. 19.—(By Wireless to The Associated Press).—Shaking the bad weather "jinx" that wrecked his vacation in Texas, President-elect Harding sailed toward Panama today under bright skies and over a smooth sea.

His steamship, the Parismina, which left New Orleans late yesterday afternoon, steered almost due southward and during the first 24 hours of the run had covered almost 300 miles of the 1,400-mile course to Cristobal. Officers of the ship predicted perfect weather would continue throughout the trip.

The President-elect slept late this morning and after a brisk walk about the deck settled down in the warm sunlight to read a book about Panama. Soon, however, he became interested in a game of shuffle board being played on deck by some of the newspapermen in his company, and he could not resist the challenge to join the game. He practically spent the rest of the day in playing shuffle board and other deck games.

Senator and Mrs. Harding occupy a small suite adjoining the state rooms of the other members of the party. They take their meals in the general dining saloon. Tonight they attended a picture show and concert given in their honor.

BOYS END BRUIN'S REIGN OF TERROR

Youths Outbunt Posses of Older Hunters Who Have Pursued "Stranger" in Newton, N. J.

Newton, N. J., Nov. 19.—A black bear, which for a week had terrorized women and children in the vicinity of Johnsonburg, near here, was killed today by two boys, who trailed him to his lair and shot him after posses of older hunters had failed.

Bruin made his first appearance up on a farm in Johnsonburg and an alarm was sent out by women whom he frightened. The next day he appeared in another section of Sussex county. News of his presence spread through the country and frightened children kept to their homes while their fathers hunted in vain.

Today Raymond and Harry Kiepaugh, 19 and 16 respectively, traced the bear to a cave on the farm of their uncle. A fire was built at the entrance and the boys, armed with shotguns, stationed themselves at commanding points nearby. Choked by the smoke, the bear dashed out and rushed at one of the boys. Both fired and Bruin dropped dead. He weighed 155 pounds.

TWO MEN ARRESTED FOR WHISKEY THEFT

Clyde (N. J.) Farmer Whose Barn Was Used for Liquor Storage, Held Under Bail

Newark, N. J., Nov. 19.—Frederick Baerrie and David Moon, both of New Brunswick arrested in the city in connection with the theft of several hundred cases and barrels of whiskey and alcohol from freight cars here last Sunday, were held under $50,000 bail each today by United States Commissioner Matthews. Disturbers valued the whiskey at $55,000, but counsel for the Pennsylvania Railroad company said the market value of the "boot" of unlawfully sold, would be approximately $40,000.

The defendants were charged with conspiracy to steal from an interstate shipment. Both entered pleas of not guilty.

Frank Erhard, a farmer of Clyde, near New Brunswick, was held under $2,000 bail as a material witness after he had testified that the defendants and another man had rented his barn for $50 last Sunday as a storage place for liquor.

ACCUSE MINEOLA MAGISTRATE.

New York, Nov. 19.—Governor Smith and Nassau county authorities have been sent copies of the testimony before Judge Wadhams in general sessions court here last week, relative to alleged issuance in blank of pistol permits by Frank P. Seaman, police magistrate at Mineola, assistant District Attorney Talley announced today.

CRIMSON CLAN FAVORITE BET

Opinion, However, Strengthens Hourly That Yale May Surprise Harvard Gridiron Force

NEW HAVEN JAMMED

Never Before in History of Football Has There Been Such an Outpouring of Fans

New Haven, Conn., Nov. 19.—Legions of football followers took possession of New Haven tonight, on the eve of the annual Yale-Harvard game. Never in the long history of this gridiron classic has there been such an outpouring of prospective spectators 24 hours before the contest.

Hotel and garage accommodations were out of the question for late comers, who were forced to seek overnight quarters in distant towns and hamlets, while numerous parties of autoists, learning of the congestion, delayed their arrival until tomorrow. All New Haven agreed that it was the largest gathering that ever appeared for a Yale-Harvard game. Garage keepers estimated that more than 15,000 automobiles will be parked here tomorrow morning. Open air parking space, under all night guard, brought from $10 to $25.

Estimate 75,000 Spectators.
According to official estimates, fully 75,000 spectators will witness Saturday's contest. Notwithstanding the enormous seating capacity of Yale bowl, tickets were unobtainable except a few in the hands of spectators, and these brought fabulous prices. From $20 to $50 was the charge for seats located along the field of play and a brisk business was done at these figures.

The Harvard squad, consisting of more than 50 players and attendants, arrived here shortly after noon and held signal drill and kicking practice in the bowl later in the afternoon. The Yale squad had its last workout previous to the game on the same gridiron before the Crimson clan came out. Immediately after the practice, the Harvard squad motored to Derby, some 15 miles away, where the players will be quartered in a private hotel until Saturday noon. The Yale team and substitutes will spend the night at the Yale infirmary.

Wagering on the result of the football game took precedence over all other competition scheduled for Saturday. Harvard's eleven still ruled favorite, at odds ranging from 10 to 4, to 5 to 3.

MAY SURPRISE HARVARD FORCES.

While Yale supporters were unable to give concrete grounds for their confidence, the opinion grew stronger tonight that Harvard was in for a surprise when it faces Yale tomorrow afternoon. While none of the Blue supporters predicted a victory for the local collegians, wagers of a tie score on a one touch-down win for Harvard were frequently reported.

The probable line-up for the two teams at the beginning of the game follows:

Yale	Position	Harvard
Into	Left Tackle	Saxon
Acosta	Left Guard	Tolbert
Cross	Center	Maymeyer
Callahan	Right Guard	Woods
(Captain)
Walker	Right Tackle	Hubbard
Beams	Right End	Crocker
Kempson	Quarterback	Fitzgerald
Eldridge	Left Half Back	Owen
Keller	Right Half Back	Churchill
Sturm	Full Back	Horween
		(Captain)

FOR CHINA'S ASSISTANCE

New Consortium Is Approved by United States, Great Britain, France and Japan.

New York, Nov. 19.—Formal approval of the new Chinese consortium by the governments of the United States, Great Britain, France and Japan was announced here tonight in a statement issued by J. P. Morgan and Company, in behalf of the American banking group.

The statement says: "The formal agreement, completing the organization of the banking groups of the United States, Great Britain, France and Japan in a new consortium designed to assist the Chinese people in the development of their railways and their other great public utilities and approved by the governments in question, was signed by all the delegates of the four banking groups in conference in New York city on October 15, 1920."

FIND $25,000 MAIL BAG LOOT SECRETED IN CHICKEN HOUSE

Council Bluffs, Iowa, Nov. 19.—Recovery of $25,000 of the loot taken from the Burlington mail car here Saturday night, and the arrest of two more persons in connection with the robbery which may involve as much as three million and a half were today developments of the investigation which has been going on all week.

The money recovered today was found in a sack in a chicken house at the home of T. A. Day, one of the five under arrest.

Hearings for the accused youths and men, set for tomorrow, probably will be continued to give the officers more time in which to arrange their case.

NARROWLY ESCAPES CAPTURE IN DUBLIN

Chief of Staff of "Irish Republican Army" Eludes Pursuers by Leaping From Window

Dublin, Ireland, Nov. 19.—The chief of staff of the "Irish Republican army" had a narrow escape from capture by the crown forces last Tuesday night, when the house in which he was secretly living was raided, according to an official announcement. It was in this raid that the military captured documents concerning the alleged plot to infect crown troops with typhoid and cavalry horses with glanders, which Sir Hammar Greenwood, chief secretary of Ireland, announced in the house of commons yesterday.

When the military entered the house, the chief of staff jumped from the window and vaulting a 10-foot wall, got away. As the greatest importance was attached by the military to his capture, they threw out elaborate cordons, but without effect.

Kidnapped Warden Returns.

Dublin, Ireland, Nov. 19.—Thomas Griffin, the warden of Cork jail, who was kidnapped October 10 while on his way to his home, returned to his home today.

Spirited Out of Ireland.
London, Nov. 19.—Dr. A. C. Pearson, who was sent by the home office to Ireland to look after the Cork hunger strikers and who announced several weeks ago that he had been threatened with death by the Irish republicans, has arrived in England, having been spirited out of Ireland under a heavy guard by government authorities.

QUICK WORK SAVES TRAVIS FROM JAIL

Flirtation With Prison Menace Was Culmination of John Doe Inquiry into Comptroller's Acts

New York, Nov. 19.—State Comptroller Eugene M. Travis escaped jail by a matter of minutes here today through fast work by his lawyer, George V. Medville, who interposed a writ of habeas corpus before court attaches could execute an order by Chief Justice Frederick Kernochan of special sessions sentencing the state's fiscal head to serve 30 days in the toms for failure to pay a $250 fine imposed for contempt of court.

The comptroller's flirtation with the prison menace today was the culmination of a train of events which began several weeks ago during the John Doe inquiry into the conduct of the comptroller's office before Justice Kernochan. At that time Travis refused to answer certain questions. After a legal battle, he was adjudged in contempt and given "until 4 o'clock today to pay his fine or go to jail. The fine was not paid, and the comptroller surrendered to Sheriff David H. Knott after Justice Kernochan has signed the order of commitment.

When the habeas corpus proceedings were started, the comptroller was paroled in custody of his counsel pending arguments of the writ, set for two weeks hence.

HOLD POLICE CHIEF IN GAMBLING PROBE

Disappearance of Paraphernalia Seized in Saratoga Springs Raid Implicates Department Head

Saratoga Springs, Nov. 19.—Edward T. Carroll, superintendent of police in this city, was held in $2,000 bail today by Supreme Court Justice Burst, after pleading not guilty to an indictment returned by the extraordinary grand jury which has been investigating gambling in Saratoga county. He furnished the bail.

Carroll was charged with being accessory to a felony in connection with alleged disappearance from police headquarters of gambling paraphernalia, seized in a raid in July, 1919.

Twenty-four others, including four women, all under indictment by the grand jury, accused of operating gambling houses and pool rooms or maintaining disorderly resorts, also pleaded not guilty and gave bail.

Wyman S. Bascom, who has been conducting the gambling investigation, said today he would endeavor to have the first trial begin early next month. In all, 69 indictments were returned by the grand jury, which was convened in August by order of Lieutenant Governor Walker. In many instances the indictments grew out of raids last summer on numerous local cigar stores.

REFUGEE SITUATION SERIOUS.

Constantinople, Turkey, Nov. 19.—Large numbers of refugees are still arriving from the Crimea. Several ship loads which arrived today are expected to bring the total up to 140,000. Local relief committees of various nationalities are overwhelmed with the task of relieving the starving and it is feared that unless immediate outside help comes, a catastrophe is inevitable. Red Cross units have been mobilized to cope with the extreme conditions and to prevent the spread of disease.

RAILS AGAINST IRISH POLICIES

Former Premier Asquith Rates Practices With the Blackest Acts of Lowest Despotism

MORE EYE ACCOUNTS

Killing of Police and Civilians at Balbriggan Related by Its Town Commissioner

London, Nov. 19.—Strong condemnation of the government's Irish policy and reprisals in Ireland was voiced by former Premier Asquith today. He declared that cold blooded deliberate murder had been traced and credited to unnamed servants of the crown and asserted things were being done in Ireland by "authorities" and execution of executives, which would take a fitting place in the blackest annals of the lowest despotism of the European world.

"The plain truth is," said Mr. Asquith, "that since the adoption of this practice of reprisal, without parallel, so far as my knowledge of history goes in the annals of British administration, justice has been put into the back ground and vengeance has been enthroned in its place. The executive with its agents and servants has allowed itself to be a minister of a policy of blind, pitiless and indiscriminate revenge.

"There is an overwhelming case for inquiry, but as it was contemptuously and vigorously refused, one is obliged to draw one's own conclusions."

More Eye Witnesses Heard.

Washington, Nov. 19.—(By The Associated Press).—More eye witness tales of violence in Ireland and accounts of social and economic developments resulting from the efforts for Irish independence, were received today by the commission of the committee of 100 investigating the Irish question. The commission then adjourned over Thanksgiving to resume its inquiry probably the first week in December.

Personal accounts of the killing of citizens and police last September at Balbriggan and the burning and looting of homes and stores there and at Galway and other Irish towns, were related by John Dorman, town commissioner at Balbriggan, and Americans who toured the country recently. Including Mrs. William King of Ironton, Ohio, and Mrs. and Mrs. Francis Hackett of New York. A copy of the report made by the Quaker commission from Great Britain, which investigated British affairs recently, was submitted by Paul J. Burness of New York, representing the Society of Friends.

"Terrorism" was the term applied by all of today's witnesses to the military rule in Ireland. Mr. Dorman said the "black and tan" bayoneted two citizens of Balbriggan and burned 25 houses during a raid in reprisal for the shooting of two officers by unknown persons. He said he was himself beaten and otherwise mistreated. No compensation, he said, was offered by the British government for property destroyed by the military.

A picture of the military rule, maintained with armed lorries and tanks in Cork, Limerick, Dublin and other cities, was given by Mrs. King, who said that street shootings were nightly occurrences.

Mr. Hackett, associate editor of the New Republic, said that magistrates and civil police had resigned "in shoals" and that the people generally were submitting their civil and other controversies to the Republican courts. Barring only the nominal authority of Dublin castle, he said there would be little British dominion in Ireland, except that of the military forces.

"Eighty per cent of the people are for Sinn Fein," said Mr. Hackett, who indicated that he had always sympathized with the Sinn Fein movement.

The judicial administration of the Sinn Fein officials, the witness stated, includes formal, although secret, trial of police, constabulary and soldiers charged with killing Irish citizens.

"Responsible Sinn Fein leaders told me," said Mr. Hackett, "that these killings of policemen are an absolutely necessary act of justice, more of them having committed actual murder."

Conditions in Ireland are working up to "massacre," Mr. Hackett said. He added that many of the "black and tan" were ex-convicts and other desperadoes.

"The English are pursuing a policy of oppression and assassination," he continued, "making no effort to bring to book these gentry, among the military forces of lawlessness."

The British policy regarding restitution for property destroyed by the military is to impose assessment upon citizens of the community where violence has occurred, the witness said. He added that Sir Arthur Griffin had told him that in September there were about 150,000 troops in Ireland and he estimated the number of police killed within the last few years at about 120.

Ulster College Burns.

Belfast, Ireland, Nov. 19.—The Ulster college of Irish at Cloughaneely, county Donegal, was destroyed by fire today. The cooperative stores there also were burned. Both fires are believed to have been of incendiary origin.

FARM AND HOME BUREAUS

Plans Completed for Annual Meeting November 29 in Oneonta.

The eighth annual meeting of the Otsego County Farm Bureau association will be held November 29 at Oneonta. The morning session of the Home Economics department will be at Municipal hall at 10:30. Reports of the department will be given by the secretary, Mrs. Thomas Cunningham. Miss Ellen Van Fleet, the Home Demonstration agent, will give a summary of the year's work for 1926. Miss Esther Spook, assistant state leader of the Home Demonstration agents of Cornell University, will give the principal address of the morning. An interesting feature of this session will be special reports from clubs throughout the county, who have specialized in some one project or community activity. Membership campaign plans will be outlined by a member of the executive board.

Joint Afternoon Session.

The afternoon session will be a joint meeting with the Farm Bureau and will be held at the Oneonta theatre. The proposed constitution making the Home Economics department a Home Bureau and forming an organization like the other 25 bureaus in the state, will be acted upon at this time.

Mrs. A. E. Bridgen, president of the State Federation of Home Bureaus, will speak. Mrs. Bridgen is a most interesting and inspiring speaker. One should take this opportunity to hear her. S. L. Strivings, president of the State Farm Bureau, will tell of the work of that organization.

Both sessions are open to all people interested in better agriculture, better homes and better communities. Mark Nov. 29 now. Plan to bring a friend and join with this great work.

C. O. Biederman, optician and optometrist, who started for Florida Nov. 3, has returned and will be in his office the remainder of the season at 151 Main street and at your service. Biederman, optician.

RED MAN APPEALS FOR AID

Indian Preacher Urges That Land Be Longing to His Tribe Be Not Opened for Settlement

Reverend Whitefeather, Indian preacher and veteran of the World War, has appealed to the American Legion Weekly for the protection of the land that belongs to his tribe, following a proposal to open up the reservation near Stillwater, N.Y., for settlement.

"Make a law that no white man or Mexican can take our land or marry in this tribe," he wrote. "Put all poor Indians in good shape, and I know that the government will be well paid in the long run. We have no lazy Indians here at all. The white man would like to see us poor Indians give up our land and work for them. A man, no matter who he is, if he works out for others is the loser."

Reverend Whitefeather is a member of the Legion (N.Y.) post of the Legion. During the war he served with the Three Hundred and Sixty-fourth machine gun battalion.

MEET AFTER 44 YEARS

Brothers Separated Almost Half a Century Are Reunited.

After being separated 44 years, each believing the other dead, Patrick Ryan, aged 54, and Peter Ryan, aged 51, brothers, met at Wheeling, W. Va. Patrick had been in the Old Soldiers' Home, Dayton. A short time ago, ascertaining that his brother was in the home, Peter of this city wrote him a postcard, giving his local address. Patrick came here to visit him, but lost the address. He appealed at police headquarters, and after a search lasting almost all day, found Peter in the Union mission, where the reunion took place.

The "Robbin Boy"

This was a nickname given to Nathaniel Prentiss Banks of Massachusetts, at one time his governor and for many years a member of congress. He was speaker of the house of representatives for a session, being chosen on the one hundred and thirty-third ballot. In his youth he learned the trade of a machinist and worked in a factory; hence the nickname.

REACTION ASSUMES GREATER HEADWAY

Hopes of Better Market Conditions Are Soon Dissipated in Yesterday's Trading Session

New York, Nov. 19. — Hopes of better conditions in the stock market today were soon dissipated, the reaction of the last few weeks making additional headway after an initial period of comparative "stagnation." Sales amounted to 2,500,000 shares, the largest turnover with one or two exceptions, so far this year.

More than 100 industrial and special issues were at lowest quotations of the year. United States Steel added another fraction to its minimum for three years and Bethlehem Steel has lower than at any time since 1915. In general, today's reversal cancelled all gains for the last two years.

Stocks were the weakest issues. Crucible breaking 19 points and regaining only one and one-half with a net loss of 4 1/2. Bethlehem. The decision of the United States Steel corporation to maintain present prices as a measure of stability was without influence and the retrograde movement in that industry found further expression in the curtailment of the Midvale company's working force.

Equipments followed the course of steel and oil and motors also were weak, with food, tobacco and chemical shares. Mexico Petroleum lost 5 1/2. Royal Dutch 2 1/2. Baldwin Locomotive 2 1/2. Studebaker 3 1/2. American Sugar and Industrial Alcohol 3 1/2. Shipments, weakest features of the preceding session, made feeble recoveries, but investment rails, notably Reading and Northern Pacific, reacted at the top of the day. On the surface, no new elements entered into the general situation, which was characterized by further disturbances in cotton, grain and other leading staples. Conservative interests deprecated the aggressive attitude of the shorts, but that faction was increasingly prominent in the further shrinkage of values.

Bonds went the way of stocks, all the losses in that market were relatively light, a few Liberty issues closing at actual gains. Old United States bonds were unchanged on call.

Southpaws Suffer Severely.

The Southpaws were no match for the D. & H. "Trap-Trans" team at the Y. M. C. A. bowling alley last night, and the railroad men practically walked away with things, defeating their opponents by 149 pins in the first game and rolling up a total score of 849 in the third. The high mark of the evening, 265, was made by Shaw, while Bolton was awarded the consolation prize.

MABLE NORMAND IN "THE SLIM PRINCESS"

Picturized From GEORGE ADE'S Great Stage Success A WHALE OF A HIT

Everybody hails this picture as the funniest thing Mabel Normand ever played in. And that means about the funniest picture ever made.

The petite Princess Kalora couldn't get a husband because she wasn't fat enough. So her father, the Count Selim Malaghski, put her in a rubber suit, filled it with air—and lol she was enormous. Until she sat on a pin and—pow! the darn thing blew up. The zippiest, funniest of all Mabel's pictures

COMING SOON - WATCH FOR THE DATE

AN EXCELLENT SUPPORTING CAST

Let's Wilson, who lately appeared opposite Mabel Normand in several photoplays, is Robert Warwick's leading woman in "The Law of the Land." A favorite in light comedy, she proves in this picture that she is also a talented actress. In the straight comedy role, J. M. Brumby, "The Boy" of "The Miracle Man," C. H. Gardner, and Charles Burton are cast as the "happies." Others in the cast are Harry Carey, June Wolfe, Dorothy Busby, Virginia Hilditch, Richard Rayne, Lorraine Marsh, Lillian Leighton and Sylvia Ashton.

OTSEGO COUNTY NEWS

FREDERICK ALLEN.

Long-Time Resident of Otsego Dies in Laurens—Dairymen to Meet.
Laurens, Nov. 19.—Frederick Allen, a life-long resident of Otsego county, died of valvular heart trouble Thursday night at about 9 o'clock at the home of his son, Edward D. Allen, in this village, where he had made his home for the past four years. The funeral services, which will be private, will be held Sunday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock at the home, with burial in the village cemetery beside his late wife.

Mr. Allen was born on November 26, 1857, at Cherry Valley, and lived there until his marriage, when he and Mrs. Allen took up their abode at Middlefield. Mr. Allen was a well-known cabinet maker there for several years, but upon the death of his wife four years ago, he sold out and came to Laurens to spend his remaining days with his son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Allen, who tenderly cared for him.

Besides the son mentioned, Mr. Allen is survived by another son, Fayette Allen of Schuyler Lake, one daughter, Mrs. T. M. Strong, of Laurens, and by several grand children and great grand children, and by two brothers, Samuel Allen of Sidney and Benjamin Allen of Afton. By all who knew him, Mr. Allen was held in high esteem, and it is with regret that his friends learn of his passing.

Dairymen's League Meeting.

The Dairymen's League will hold an important meeting at Laurens on Monday evening, November 22, to consider building a cooperative milk plant at Cooperstown. As this plant vitally affects the farmers of the Laurens district, it is of great importance that there be a large attendance at this meeting, when an effort will be made to get Laurens people to support the plan. All farmers of the Laurens district are urged to be present.

Oneonta Pastor Here.

Rev. J. C. Johnson, pastor of the Elm Park Methodist church at Oneonta, will preach in the Laurens Methodist church Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. The public is invited.

COMING TO SCHENEVUS.

Roundellors to Give Next Number on Entertainment Course Dec. 16.
Schenevus, Nov. 19.—The next entertainment of the Citizens' committee course will be given by the Roundellors on Dec. 16 at Hubbard's hall. The entertainment by the DeMille Quartet gave excellent satisfaction to the management.

Meetings Next Week.

The regular communication of Schenevus Valley lodge, 552, F. & A. M., will be held Monday evening, Nov. 22, at the lodge. Entered Apprentice degree. A regular meeting of Schenevus chapter, 123, O. E. S., will be held Tuesday evening. The initiatory degrees will be given to a class of candidates.

Personal Notes.

Mrs. Henry Bell, Mrs. Sarah Kenyon and Mrs. Ida Howe of Oneonta and Mrs. O. A. Weatherly of Milford were guests of Mrs. G. W. Chase Thursday. Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Briggs left Thursday for New York city, where they will remain a week, after which they will go to Florida for the winter.

DONATION AT WEST ONEONTA.

Large Attendance at Event in First Baptist Church Last Evening.
West Oneonta, Nov. 19.—There was a large attendance at the donation for Rev. F. H. King held in the First Baptist church this evening, and the gratifying sum of $238 was realized. Early in the evening, a delicious chicken pie supper was served, and later a social hour was enjoyed. The donation was one of the most successful, financially and socially, held here in some time.

Dr. Tarbox to Speak Here.

Dr. O. C. Tarbox of Oneonta will give an address Sunday evening at the union service to be held at the First Baptist church. All are cordially invited to be present.

Apron Sale Next Friday.

The Ladies' Aid society of the Free Baptist church will hold an apron sale and chicken pie supper at the church on Friday evening, November 26. An invitation is extended to the public.

AT MT. VISION SUNDAY.

Union Thanksgiving Service Will Be Held in Methodist Church.
Mt. Vision, Nov. 19.—Union Thanksgiving services will be held in the Methodist church Sunday evening, November 21. Rev. A. N. Denny, pastor of the local Baptist church, will deliver the sermon. All are invited.

Heard About Town.

The receipts from the gentlemen's supper served at the Methodist church last Tuesday were more than $40, besides what was cleared at the ice cream sale. Mrs. Ireland gave a very interesting talk on missions last Sunday evening in the Baptist church. Dr. M. C. Wright, Mrs. Gilbert Marlette and Mrs. Stephen House are among Mt. Vision people who are ill.

The money raised for the purchase of a home for Mr. Collier, road worker, was given by his fellow workmen, most of whom live in Laurens. We know Mt. Vision people are generous people, but credit should be given where due. Mrs. Lina Shove visited her mother, Mrs. Lucy Pickens, of Morris, over the week-end. Mrs. Channing Taylor of Hartwick was a recent guest of her aunt, Mrs. Helen Bissell.

Barnett Decision Expected Today.

A decision is expected today in the case of Morris Barnett, who was on trial in city court all day Thursday before Judge Huntington on a non-support charge preferred by his wife. At that time, the taking of evidence consumed the entire day, and the judge reserved his decision until a later day.

It developed yesterday that opinion somewhat divided in the West End district as to the merits of the controversy. One resident called up The Star and gave it as his opinion that Mrs. Barnett was entirely at fault, as her husband had built a home for her, and made every effort to make life pleasant for her, but she had refused to live with him and had gone away on several occasions. It is said that the majority of West End's take this view, but there are some who as vigorously defend Mrs. Barnett.

L. O. O. M. Meeting at Binghamton.

There are about 49 members of the L. O. O. M. and Ladies' chapter who expect to leave this evening for Binghamton, where they will attend the national services. It is expected that a large class of candidates will receive the degrees, which will be given by the local degree team. Those on the degree team of this city are: Ezra Morse, Jacob Cook, Thomas Jones, C. W. Smith, E. L. Butts and E. T. Fitzgerald.

Lambert Robber in Jail?

Joseph Nash, 22, called the Bear Brummel of the underworld, who was charged with being the leader of the robbers who plundered the Lambert store in Cobleskill last summer but was released on insufficient evidence only to be arrested by Schenectady police for robberies there, was found guilty in county court in Schenectady of robbing the Watervliet Mills store and sentenced by County Judge Mollen to three years in Dannemora prison.

LOCAL MENTION.

—The music for the Fashion show and Dinner dance at Ward's Cafeteria, Thursday night was furnished by Verlye Young's orchestra.

—Public market this morning on Market street near Main. Hours are 9 a. m. to 1 p. m. With the approaching winter, there probably will be few more markets this season. Better take advantage of them while they are running.

—"Listen Lester," John Cort's musical comedy success, played a return engagement at the Oneonta theatre last evening and gave as good, if not better, satisfaction as when it first appeared here. The author, hotel clerk and Lester himself divided honors as the star comedians of the evening.

—Another lot of new books, including both fiction and non-fiction, will be put on the shelves of the Oneonta public library this morning, and should prove of interest to all book-lovers. The volumes that have been used in connection with the Children's Week exhibit also may be taken out by borrowers today.

—Although a few additional cases of diphtheria have been reported during the last half of the week, the epidemic situation in the city is no more serious than before, and it is believed that with the cooperation of parents and physicians much can be done during the coming week to restrict the further spread of the disease. Any illness among children, even if slight, should have the immediate attention of a physician.

Boy Knocked Down by Auto.

While crossing Main street Thursday afternoon at about 3 o'clock, Raymond Abbott, the young son of J. G. Abbott of 35 Burnside avenue, was struck by a motor car and knocked to the pavement. As the car was proceeding slowly at the time, the lad did not fall with much force, and escaped with slight bruises. After taking the boy to his home, the driver of the car, Frank Miller, reported the accident at police headquarters. He said Abbott darted in front of his machine without warning and he was unable to avoid hitting him.

Better Coal Situation.

Further shipments of coal were received yesterday by the Oneonta Coal company, by the Ice and Fuel company and by Harry J. Dotts. With the coal now in the city there is no immediate danger of shortage with the companies; rather it is in the matter of delivery, enough teams to meet demands not being at this time available. It is believed, however, that deliveries can be made in sufficient number to prevent actual suffering, and it is believed that in a short time both deliveries and shipments will become normal.

Special Thanksgiving Service.

The Young People's Christian union of the Chapin Memorial church will hold a special Thanksgiving service Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock, to which the public is cordially invited. The topic of the meeting will be "A Thankful Thanksgiving," and the Y. P. C. U. Thanksgiving proclamation will be read and the roll call of members taken. Mr. and Mrs. Carr Hotelling will give a vocal duet, "America Beautiful."

Woman's Club.

The Girls' Saturday afternoon class will be postponed until further notice on account of the epidemic.

The civic committee of the Woman's club will hold a card party in the club rooms, Tuesday evening, Nov. 22, at 8 o'clock. All members are requested to make up tables and invite their friends.

MEMORIES OF MANY LANDS

Dr. Russell interestingly describes Visits Abroad at Men's Club Meeting Last Evening.

Although late in starting this year, the Men's club of the First Presbyterian church got under way very auspiciously last evening, when the first meeting of the 1932-33 season took place. There was a good attendance of men of the church, and numerous ladies also were present, as the first meeting always is an open one and takes the form of an informal reception.

Dr. Russell was the speaker of the evening and in an informal way gave the story of "Memories of Many Lands." Several years ago, Dr. Russell was a member of a party that toured Europe and he brought to his hearers last night many interesting experiences he had gone through. Among the cities he described were London, Paris and Rome, and he said that his most enjoyable remembrance of his visits there was the experience of walking along the streets among the crowd and getting into touch with the people themselves. He told of the beauties of the cathedrals in European cities, especially that of Cologne, and gave an interesting recital of his trip through the "Dead" city of Pompeii. The talk of a reminiscence nature, was listened to with great enjoyment by the audience, most of whom had never been privileged to visit the scenes Dr. Russell so aptly described.

After Dr. Russell's talk, light refreshments were served by the ladies and a social hour enjoyed. The meetings of the Men's club are always a big feature of Presbyterian church life and the men are looking forward with pleasure to the winter's program.

At a brief business session, the following officers were elected to serve during the winter:

President — Alva Seybolt, esq.
Vice President — Charles Norris.
Secretary and Treasurer — George Koehler.

Program Committee — Prof. A. M. Curtis, Charles Smith, Herbert Germain, Leslie Gardner, W. F. Eggleston.

Refreshment Committee — K. E. Orniston, Luther Zelle, Dr. J. P. Elliott, W. C. Hamford, Leigh B. Holier, Donald Watson.

Reception Committee — H. S. Rowe, A. R. Fensdick, W. J. Kinnier, C. A. Hovey, William E. Hattie, Ralph Henderson.

Invitation Committee — J. W. Barnum, W. T. Huns, Henry G. Harri, S. P. Poer, J. W. Taylor.

TO SHOW MOOSEHEART FILM.

Public Invited to Performance at Oneonta Theatre Sunday Afternoon.

The local order of Moose extends a cordial invitation to the public to be present at a special performance in the Oneonta theatre Sunday afternoon, when a film showing the great work being done at Mooseheart Ill. will be thrown on the screen. Few people are there who have not heard of Mooseheart, but many of them have heard of it—and that's all it is for the benefit of all such, and for any others interested, that this moving picture, depicting how the children and orphans of Moose members are cared for, educated, and taught a useful occupation, will be shown.

The Oneonta Moose have been fortunate in securing Hon. James M. Lynch of Albany, state industrial commissioner, to give an address in connection with the photoplay. Mr. Lynch is a loyal member of the Moose and is a firm believer in its worth and work. His remarks will no doubt be of interest to all. A local orchestra will furnish music for the afternoon.

The performance will commence at 2 o'clock and the public is invited to "come and see" the mission of Mooseheart.

What's Yours?

We all have a tad. With some it's a dog, fiddle, auto or gun, but in every case it takes money. Now don't think that I like a miser or believe in piling up money for money's sake alone, but I do believe in money with which to get a farm or home and to bring up children correctly. My dad is to give little fellows a fair chance and a square deal and to play the live and let-live game and I've done it to beat the band. It's this way: I've helped little fellows to safely make small amounts roll up to several million dollars, for homes and farms and make rent money pay for them, so that they don't have to lie, cheat, steal or throw bombs in order to get money with which to enjoy their life. It's dead easy, for I'm doing the trick to the tune of three million more. Any little fellow can make a mean ten dollars per month safely roll up to 2,000 bucks. My dad is a queer one and if I tell you that it brings no undue gain to me over others you wouldn't believe me. Good day. I am the safe and sane Oneonta Building and Loan association.

ROLL CALL CLOSING TODAY.

Final Plea to Oneonta Citizens—Union Service Sunday Evening.

Today will be the last day for the Red Cross roll call in this city, and the canvassers are working hard to get Oneonta "over the top." Although the response of most citizens has been very encouraging, the enrollment has not yet been as successful as was hoped for, and a final plea is made that every Oneonta citizen come forward and enroll in the ranks of this meritorious organization, which did such a great work during the World war and is "still the greatest mother in the world," as the attractive roll call poster proclaims.

Attention is again called to the union service at the First Methodist church Sunday evening, when the Red Cross stereoscopic lecture, "The Gospel of Stereoscopes," will be given by Rev. Frank M. Caughey, of the United Presbyterian church, aided by 120 colored lantern slides depicting the work of the Red Cross during war and peace. The public is invited to attend this service.

NORMAL GIRLS DEPART.

Everybody Starts Home Run for Turkey and Pumpkin Pie.

The Normal department of the log school on the hill closed yesterday afternoon, though, but the grade pupils, such they believe is their sad fate, will continue their work both in the Normal and on Center street, until Wednesday. Thereafter there will be a Thanksgiving recess until the following Monday, when activities will be resumed in all departments.

Many Normal students set their faces toward home yesterday afternoon and evening and this morning practically all the others living outside the city will follow their example. Many of the teachers, as was yesterday noted, attend the state convention at Rochester next week, but others have already departed for their homes for a week's sojourn.

Backs Auto Into Trolley.

While Charles A. Bidwell of 112 Chestnut street was backing his motor car out of his garage Thursday morning shortly after 8 o'clock, he did not notice an approaching West End trolley, and bumped into it, badly damaging his machine and suffering bruises about his body in the smash-up. Scott Hubbard, motorman on the trolley, was unable to stop his car before the crash, and Mr. Bidwell backed directly into the trolley. Although Mr. Bidwell's injuries are not serious, he was confined to his bed yesterday and is suffering considerable pain from the bruises he received.

HONORED BY STATE LEGION.

Sheldon H. Close and Della Man Given Committee Assignments.

Two former service men of this vicinity have been named members of state Legion committees by Major Charles G. Blakeslee of Binghamton, state commander of the American Legion. They are City Clerk Sheldon H. Close of this city, who has been appointed a member of the legislative committee, and E. L. Graham of Delhi, who is a member of the special committee on Americanization.

The appointments of the new Legion commanders were announced yesterday, and as the legislative committee is the most important of all, Mr. Close is to be congratulated on his selection. The other members of this committee are: Samuel L. Aronowitz of Albany, chairman; Edward N. Schenck of Newburgh, Henry E. Brundage of New York, Bernard A. Flood of New York, Charles Van Voorhis of Rochester, Thomas W. Boyce of Dover Plains, Mitchell Tramm of Tonawanda, C. M. Harrington of Plattsburg, and Ezra A. Barnes of Oswego.

Major Blakeslee, who is well known in Oneonta, has also appointed an Americanization committee headed by Mayor Thomas A. Wilson of Binghamton, and of whom Mr. Graham of Delhi is a member.

Dr. Grover A. Schuman of Delhi, but formerly of this city, has been appointed a member of the hospitalization committee, which is composed entirely of physicians who saw war service, and which is headed by Dr. Ralph H. Fitch of Rochester.

CONTRIBUTIONS KEEP COMING.

Donations to Child Feeding Fund Yesterday Totaled $55.

The Star received today a total of $55 in subscriptions to the Child Feeding fund to be forwarded to the Literary Digest to aid in raising the $22,000,000 needed to keep the children of Europe from starvation. The example of the widow lady, who gave so generously the day previous and not inspire any who could afford to amount to duplicate her gift. If the city's proportionate share to be raised is secured it will require several $500 subscriptions. Who will add to the fund today? Remember that $5 or $10 will help and cost nothing because you cannot do more than $5 but is all that is expected or hoped for.

The contributions of yesterday follow:

Mrs. Carrie Whitney	$ 5.00
J. L. Shair	5.00
Sarah Johnson	5.00
Mrs. S. L. Huntington	10.00
Atterio Card Club	10.00
Anna Knutson	10.00
Mrs. B. H. Mosher	5.00
Miss Lillian Cooper	5.00

Yesterday's total $55.00
Previously reported $177.75
Total $232.75

DEATHS.

Mrs. Pearl R. Smith.
Mrs. Pearl R. Smith, who was taken about two weeks ago to the Fox Memorial hospital for treatment, died in that institution at 12:30 o'clock Friday morning. The body was taken to her late home at 55 Market street, where the funeral will be held Sunday at 2 p. m. Rev. Dr. E. J. Farley of the First Baptist church will officiate and interment will be in the Plains cemetery.

The deceased was born in Schenectady 21 years ago, a daughter of William C. and Alice Reynolds. She was married 15 years ago to Raymond F. Smith, a D. & H. tinsmith who was killed in the yards in this city in 1912. From her residence in this city and for the past three years had been an employee of the Quality Silk mills.

Surviving are two daughters, Thelma and Leona, aged 12 and 10 years respectively, her mother above named, one sister, Mrs. C. M. Cole of Worcester, and two brothers, F. L. Herron of Ironwood, Mich., and P. J. Herron of Syracuse.

MARRIAGE.

Magninley-MacFale.
Thomas James Magninley and Mrs. Nina A. MacFale, the latter of 25 West Broadway, were married at 5 o'clock Friday evening at the home of the groom, 9 Huntington avenue. The ceremony was performed by Rev. N. S. Burd of the West End Baptist church in the presence of the immediate family only of the groom. Following the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Magninley, both of whom are residents of this city, left on the evening train for Stroudsburg, Pa. On their return they will be at home at 9 Huntington avenue.

Funeral of Ellis Infant.
Funeral services for Ronald Ellis, the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Ellis, will be held this afternoon at 3 o'clock from the late home, 8 Coz Avenue, with burial in Glenwood cemetery.

C. O. Blederman, optician and optometrist, who started for Florida Nov. 8, has returned and will be in his office the remainder of the season at 151 Main street and at your service. Blederman, optician.

EXERCISES AT THE NORMAL.

Excellent Program of Song and Story Presented Yesterday.

Yesterday afternoon there was presented at the Normal a program of interest and profit. The story given was Gilbert Parker's "The Going of the White Swan." It is a remarkable story of the north, where distances and primitive feelings and deep mysticisms abound. The story itself is a study in dramatic and this affords opportunity for vivid interpretation. The students who told this story were very effective indeed and deserve the warmest praise. Each and all did exceedingly well. A very effective feature of the rendition was the little lullaby song, which was sweetly sung by Miss Milspaugh.

The music for the occasion was excellently good; the solos by Miss Josephine Lauren were rendered splendidly; the number by the Glee club was also splendidly rendered, and the song by the school chorus was a fitting conclusion to a very enjoyable entertainment.

The following is the complete program:

1. "The Going of the White Swan" (Parker). Miss Preston, Miss Ottman, Miss Milspaugh, Miss Hastings, Miss Williams, Miss Downie.
2. Vocal Solo, "The Star" (Rogers). Miss "Lilies" (Hastings). Miss Josephine Lauren.
3. The Dusk Watch (Ambrose). School Glee club.
4. "On Wings of Music" (Mendelssohn). School chorus.

TEACHERS AT ROCHESTER.

Principal Bugbee and Prof. Curtis Are Named on Convention Program.

The seventy-fifth annual meeting of the New York State Teachers' association, and affiliated organizations, will be held in Convention hall, Rochester, next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, and a considerable number of teachers in the schools of Oneonta are planning to attend. The Normal department of the State Normal school closed yesterday for a week to permit members of the faculty to go to Rochester, and several of them will leave for that city today or tomorrow.

A special section of the state convention is devoted to the Normal and training school, and it is of interest to Oneontans to note that H. W. Rockwell, principal of the Buffalo State Normal school but formerly a member of the O. N. S. faculty, is president of this group. On the official program of the convention are the names of two Oneonta instructors, Principal Bugbee and Prof. A. M. Curtis. Dr. Bugbee will give a half-hour address on "Shall Normal School Faculty Members Favor the Adoption of the New Pension Law or Adhere to the Present Pension Law?" while Prof. Curtis will discuss arithmetic and its connection with the proposed course of study for State Normal schools.

Many prominent educators, including State Commissioner John H. Finley and Dr. F. W. Gussakus, president of the Armour Institute of Technology at Chicago, will be present at the convention, which probably will be attended by one of the largest gatherings of teachers in many years.

Real Estate Changes.

Among the real estate changes lately made through the Campbell Brothers' agency are the following:

John E. Aney has sold his farm of 173 acres, located near Springfield Center, to Arthur J. Baker of Oneonta. The sale includes stock, machinery, tools and crops. Mr. Aney takes as part payment a house and lot located at 3 Forrest avenue. He now has possession of the premises and will occupy the same as a residence.

Mr. Baker is already in possession of the property at Springfield Center and has moved his personal effects to that place.

Arthur Seibolt has sold his property at 35 Otsego street to Fred L. Hoyt, formerly of Rambridge, who has immediate possession and will occupy the premises as a residence.

David Stiles has sold his farm located near Unadilla to S. E. Harrington of this city. The sale includes stock, machinery, tools and crops. Mr. Stiles takes as part payment a double house at 25-25 River street, which he has wanted.

H. H. Swank of Otsego has sold his stock of drug medicines, etc., to Frankman & Snapp of this city who will continue the business as a branch of the H. H. Swank pharmacy at Troy, N. Y.

Tickets for U. C. T. Dance.

Tickets for the third annual dance of the Oneonta United Commercial Travelers, to be held in the state armory on Friday evening December 10, will be on sale this morning and will be sold at the following prices: Ladies & Rowe M. C. Dances, $1.00; H. H. and A. O. Ingemann, $1.00. The tickets are also in the hands of members of the local U. C. T. committee.

Entertainers Baptist Ladies.

Mrs. C. H. Farley pleasantly entertained several members of the Ladies' Aid Society of the First Baptist church at her home at 344 Chestnut street yesterday afternoon. The meeting was purely a social event, no business being transacted, and the ladies spent a very enjoyable time together.

Centrally Located House for Sale.
House in fine location, nine rooms, all improvements. Lot large enough to build another house on. For particulars call at 75 Dietz street.

Harvey I. Russell and wife of Coopersburg, who had for several days been guests of the latter's sister, Mrs. Edna Sanderson, in Morris, were in Oneonta Friday on their way home.

Mrs. Belle McCrum left Oneonta yesterday for a few days' sojourn in Binghamton, and on Monday she continues her journey as far as Philadelphia. It is Mrs. McCrum's intention to return to Oneonta about the holidays, though later she may go south for the winter. Her house at 9 Broad street has been leased for the next few months to E. A. Traver of the Traver-Bair company who has taken possession.

BANQUET AT M. E. CHURCH.

Officers and Teachers Discuss Work of the Sunday School.

At a get-together banquet of officers and teachers of the First Methodist Sunday school, held last evening, plans were informally discussed for "living up" the work of the Sunday school and of getting every child of church members into the school. There was practically a full attendance of the officers and teachers, and a very profitable and enjoyable evening was had.

First on the program was the banquet, served at 7 o'clock by the ladies of the church, which was all that could be asked for, and helped put everybody in the right kind of a mood for the discussion of the problems facing them. After the bounteous meal several of the Sunday school officers present gave informal addresses touching on the "past and present" of the M. E. Sunday school and the need of encouraging a greater interest among children in order to assure its future success. The speakers, all of whom have been interested in Sunday school work for several years, were: Judge W. I. Bolton, Postmaster C. J. Ewars, S. E. Hopkins, I. S. Dauley, Dr. B. M. Johns, Mrs. L. E. Green and Mrs. Lula Walker.

The evening consisted virtually of a "round table" discussion and many helpful hints for carrying on Sunday school work were given by the speakers.

Funeral of William M. Mills.
The funeral of the late William M. Mills was held at his late home on the river road below Otsego at 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Owing to the illness of a member of the family, the funeral was private, but many beautiful floral tributes from friends and former neighbors testified to the general sympathy and regard. The service was conducted by Rev. Granville Rathbun of South Side, who read the impressive ritual of the Protestant Episcopal church and followed with brief remarks, spoken as from one long a friend, and which were to a remarkable degree sympathetic and comforting. Interment was in the family plot in the Riverside cemetery in Oneonta, members of the immediate family acting as bearers. Among those present from a distance were Mrs. Frank H. Stone and Miss Alice Stone of Clark Summit, Pa., and Miss Alice Emmors of New York.

Funeral of Brown Child Today.
Funeral services for Isabel May Brown, nine months old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Brown, who died at the family home on the Plains Thursday morning, will be held at the late home this afternoon at 2 o'clock. Mr. and Mrs. Brown have one other child, Milton Brown, two years old. Through a regretted error the name of the deceased was given in yesterday's Star as Harry Brown.

GOOD OLD TIMES

"PROF. WINDYSPIEL delivered a fine lecture last evening," said Mrs. Jamesworthy. "He held up to scorn the pessimist who says the world isn't getting better, and described conditions as they were a hundred years ago. Then people traveled on foot or on horseback, and a short journey was a serious matter; there were no telephones, no electric lights, and none of the conveniences we are used to."

"It is true there were no alleged conveniences in those days," replied Jamesworthy, "and for that reason I think the old times were better than the present. I only wish the old conditions could be restored. A hundred years ago the married man had no reason to dread the poorhouse. It was practically impossible for women to be extravagant then. If they wanted to blow themselves they had to go to town, and in order to get to town they had to ride in old coaches which weren't as comfortable as a modern hack."

"The woman of a hundred years ago couldn't back in an easy chair and order a hundred dollars' worth of junk by phone. If she ordered by letter, it took the letter three weeks to get anywhere, and by the time the goods arrived they were out of date, and she had to send them back. It would be a great blessing if things were that way now."

"But the modern married woman has the softest snap ever invented, Mrs. Jamesworthy. If she happens to be too lazy to put on her brass-mounted harness and go downtown to do her shopping, she has that great modern convenience at her elbow. It isn't necessary to make herself presentable to do her shopping. She sits down with an old wrapper on, and her top-knot askew, and her mouth full of hairpins, and calls up the butcher and baker and candlestick maker, and orders everything they have in their joints, and has it charged to her husband."

"As your sway-backed professor said, a short journey was a serious business in the old days, and as a result people stayed home and attended to their knitting. If a woman journeyed nine miles in 'one of the old-time coaches she had a backache for three weeks; and so the idea of going away from home didn't fill her with enthusiasm. But nowadays traveling is a luxury. All a woman has to do is to hold up her husband for the fare, and then the urbane railway people do the rest, and make everything so comfortable for her that she hates the idea of ever returning home. And because of this luxury, women are forever hunting up excuses for a trip somewhere. Kersmith told me the other day that his wife traveled three hundred miles and back to match a ribbon, the local stores not having the exact shade she wanted. Kersmith is just about three cubits ahead of the sheriff, and his wife knows it, but she wouldn't let a small matter like that interfere with her trip."

"In the halcyon days people used to tallow candles and were all the better for it. There was no satisfaction in reading by a candle, so men didn't blow in their substance for fool books and magazines. The candles kicked up such a smell that they were extinguished as early as possible, and so no money was wasted. Now we have the electric light, which is a great convenience. It is such a thundering convenience, Mrs. Jamesworthy, that it is greasing the road to the poorhouse for innumerable heartless husbands. The average citizen finds it impossible to convince his wife and daughters and other female relatives that the electric juice costs money, and so his home is illuminated from basement to garret every night. Few women remember to turn off the light after having it turned on. If I drop dead of heart failure one of these days, it will be when looking over the electric light bill. In the old days—"

"Oh, bother the old days, and the young days, and the middle-aged days," cried Mrs. Jamesworthy.

"That Depends. You know, my dear fellow, we really gain by our trials in life."

"That depends on the kind of law yer you employ."

TRIBUTE TO BRITISH

New Home for Orphans of War
Heroes Is Opened.Funds to Buy and Maintain It Given by American Admirers of English Valor

New York—A home for the less than 100 British war orphans who have been opened in Road No. 40 in London, by the National Allied Relief committee working with funds raised in the United States, according to an announcement made by the committee. The home is situated at No. 2 West Forty-first street, New York. The announcement said that the home for the home was a place where British American admirers of British valor and not the home was a place of appreciation and a memorial to the American people. The home is a church of the British army has been named in honor of the home and his wife Mrs. Churchill has been appointed director. It will be under the protection of the British army and education. It will be a home for 48 boys.

A check for maintaining the home was taken to England a few weeks ago by John Moffat, chairman of the National Allied Relief committee, and turned over to the British management committee. The home was formerly St. Andrew's home of the W. S. and Strays society of England and was purchased furnished and fully equipped.

The British management committee is composed of Col. Arthur C. Murray, chairman; Maj. J. J. Astor, treasurer; Evelyn Wrench, secretary; Lieut. Col. A. S. Cleaver, Robert Grant, Jr., G. Mills McKay and James Van Allen Shields.

The honorary patrons of the committee are Earl Reading formerly British ambassador to the United States; Baron de Cartier de Marchienne, the Belgian ambassador; Kijiro Shidchava, the Japanese ambassador, and Dr. Charles W. Eliot, president of Harvard university.

THEY ALL WERE AMERICANS

Interesting Observations on the Product of the Melting Pot by Frederick Palmer.

Where were the foreigners? I wondered as I looked at the faces in the crowd upon my return from Europe. The French, who had heard much of our country, asked this question when they saw our soldiers marching along the roads of France. In France, the men were all of the type American. Yet they included every race, as well as sons of every nation. Europe, Frederick Palmer writes.

Are you Americans? they asked. I replied that I was in those trying days. They gave the first of a salute at home and in battle, often fighting against an enemy of their own blood. Zolotas, Einsteins, Schmidts, Roders, Katschans won the Distinguished Service Cross, thrilling our people with a new sense of nationalism. Had they now reverted to loyalty to the land of their origin? If so, what had wrought the change in their hearts?

To my fresh view all the people were distinctly Americans in mind and heart in their complexion, which was quite so promptly affected in that brusque and frank culture, their hearty, their pleasures, and their restless motion. Later, as I became settled at home and more discerning, I might note that this or that person was of Swedish, Italian, Hungarian or Slav stock. Then I would see through the veneer as I was told. But most of us—again, not a new idea—were of the reservation of foreign stock. My people passed the Mayflower and came over in 1636. I could not discern that the descendants of the Pilgrims were more American than I was or than a dark-eyed telephone girl whose father was an Italian immigrant.

Not even in the mean streets did I find patches. I saw no shuffling babies in enclaved mothers' arms on broad lanes in the European sense, though conditions were bad enough from the point of view of desired standards which must ever call our ambition away from stagnation of "everything is for the best in the best of worlds." In place of saloons in mean streets and average streets, new stores and restaurants had appeared. How clean the restaurants were compared to those of the same class in Europe? How wholesome was their atmosphere!

WHITE CAPS IN SOUTH

Force Thousands of Negroes to
Work in Fields.Cotton Crop Saved by Action of Night Riders Wearing the Garb of the Ku Klux Klan.

Greenville, S. C.—While the old Ku Klux Klan of reconstruction days is being revived in some parts of the South in a fraternal spirit for law and order, the hooded night riders, a long, flowing white gowns have actually made their appearance in South Carolina as a means of forcing certain planters to pay less for cotton picking and also forcing thousands of negroes to work.

White Caps, several hundred strong with horses and riders clad in the Ku Klux Klan garb, have ridden into several towns in the state, principally in Florence county, and as a result the cotton fields the next day were thick with cotton pickers and the horsewives have all the help in the way of cooks and wash women they desire.

Farmers now see a way out of the ruin which faced them by the deterioration of cotton turning blue in the fields for a lack of pickers. The White Caps appeared in Lake City for a second time. First they called on some farmers who had been paying as much as $150 a hundred pounds for picking cotton and suggested to them that this was too much. The price fell to $1 in a twinkling.

The cavalry then proceeded to the negro section and threw out several hints to the effect that more work and less loafing around would be required. Hence the new hordes of pickers and multitude of cooks and washers today.

Archaeologists in Spain by American Archaeologists, Charles A. Smith, American Archaeologist.

Paris—The discovery by Jack Smith, a California archaeologist, of a prehistoric cavern containing the fossil remains of man and human beings is being hailed as the most important discovery of the century.

While following a lead of volcanic nature in the hills near Remonville (near Lyons) under Smith's direction, the workers happened on what they believed a grotto. Stairs led to a long hall from the ceiling and a long stream trickled along the floor. At the far end of the hall were found a heap of bones and teeth, some of the latter being nearly 12 inches long. French geologists who visited the site are inclined to believe that in the past the volcano of Velay poured out frequent eruptions of lava and the entrance to the cave was covered and the inmates imprisoned.

Teacher Laughs at Landlord. Yuba City, Cal.—Get a house on wheels and laugh at landlords, is the advice of Miss Bea Dennis, teacher of St. John's district school. While the housing shortage is bothering many, Miss Dennis is living comfortably in the school term in a house on wheels parked near the school, she says.

Baseball Shuts a Church. Trenton, Ind.—The Methodist Episcopal church here has closed its doors and the building is offered for sale. The populace was so "crazy" about Sunday baseball that attendance dropped off to nothing, church trustees say.

How to Know Real Castile When You See it

True Castile is made in Spain out of pure Olive Oil. The cake is firm, yellow, with a fine grain and smooth. The words "LACO CASTILE SOAP" are stamped on the wrapper and guarantee you the genuine. PURE OLIVE OIL CASTILE SOAP will not discolor, shrink or swell. It is always firm, sweet, white.

RED CROSS SERVES 542,679 FAMILIES

Members of the Red Cross in Connecticut, New York and New Jersey will be interested to know that during the past year the Home Service sections of these three states served 542,679 families in many different ways. Most of the services were performed in connection with ex-soldiers and sailors, helping them to present their claims to the government, finding employment for them, helping their families in case of need or anxiety and in every way possible protecting the homes of the men until they could assume the responsibility themselves.

The Red Cross has pledged itself to carry on Home Service Work, acting as advisor and friend to the thousands of families in need of guidance and advice. Former fighting men and civilian families who have been aided by Home Service are among the most ardent workers for the success of the Red Cross Roll Call to be held November 14 to 20. There are 110 Home Service Sections in New York, 64 in New Jersey and 23 in Connecticut, about 50 of which are already doing a great deal towards building up home life. For the first time in many of these places families have some one to whom they can turn for advice, comfort or relief.

Every community needs an organization to do this kind of work. In places where no such agency is available the Red Cross Home Service Section is ready to assume the responsibility.

Settlement of Oklahoma. After the acquisition by the federal government of the Indian claims, the territory of Oklahoma was thrown open to white settlers, the central part by proclamation of President Harrison on April 22, 1889, a large tract in 1891 and the Cherokee strip or outlet in the north in 1893. The territory was settled with extraordinary rapidity. Oklahoma was admitted to the Union November 16, 1907.

Pitcairn Island Women. The women of Pitcairn Island, descended from English sailors and Oahuian mothers, are described as being unusually graceful, as well as vigorous. It is a common sight to see the young women of the island go up and down the steep, rocky shores, carrying barrels of water or other heavy burdens on their shoulders, apparently with as much ease as the young men do.

Extraordinary Hurdling. William Priestly, at Hull, England, in 1883, jumped one thousand hurdles, each three feet six inches high, in sixty-one and a half minutes. That is equal to lifting his own weight nine times the height of St. Paul's in London, and running six miles into the bargain.

TO SEARCH FOR "MISSING LINK"

Great Expedition Will Explore Remote Sections of Asia for Most Primitive Human Remains.

GREATEST EVER ORGANIZED

China and Mongolia Expected to Yield Up Treasures in Anthropology and Archaeology—Chinese Superstition Big Drawback.

New York—To search for the most primitive human remains, the "missing link" between man and the ape, will be the object of a great expedition to be sent out by the American Museum of Natural History in cooperation with the American Asiatic Association and Asia Magazine. The expedition will be the greatest of its kind which has ever been organized by any institution in the world and will work for five years with a large party of scientists in various remote regions of central Asia. It will be under the direction and leadership of Mr. Roy Chapman Andrews, Associate Curator of Mammals in the American Museum of Natural History, who for the last ten years has been carrying on zoological explorations in various parts of the Far East. The expedition will be financed by a fund of $250,000, which is being provided by the American Museum of Natural History, the American Asiatic Association and Asia Magazine, and the private subscriptions of Mrs. Willard Straight, Messrs. J. P. Morgan, George F. Baker, Childs Frick, W. A. Harriman and Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Bernheimer.

When in the year 1891, a Dutch army surgeon, Eugene Dubois, while excavating for fossils in central Java, discovered near Trinil part of a skull, two molar teeth and a thigh bone, he had unearthed one of the most perplexing conundrums in the study of human ancestry. Were the remains those of an extremely early type of prehuman manlike animal? If so, this specimen must have lived approximately five hundred thousand years ago. This momentous discovery has been supplemented by that of other indisputable human remains of which the most ancient, found in southern Germany, is the jaw of the so-called Heidelberg man who may be two hundred and fifty thousand years old.

With the exception of the Java specimen, all fossil human fragments have been discovered in Europe or England. Nevertheless, the leading scientists of the day believe that Asia was the early home of the human race and that whatever light may be thrown upon the origin of man will come from the great central Asian plateau.

Appeal to Imagination. The subject is one that makes a universal appeal to the imagination. The causes that led to man's evolution from the apes, how that evolution was first accomplished, what primitive man looked like and how he lived—these are all subjects upon which there is much theory, but as yet very little fact.

Leaving about the first of next February, headquarters for the expedition will be established in Peking. The first year will be devoted to studies in anthropology and zoology in China; the second year the work will be carried into Mongolia and a geologist will be added to the field staff; the third, fourth and fifth years archaeologists and anthropologists will be sent out which with the zoologists and paleontologists will carry on work in various parts of Asia.

The importance of this region long has been recognized, but no systematic study on a large scale ever has been attempted, and there is no similar area of the inhabited surface of the earth about which so little is known. Whether or not human remains are found it will yield rich collections in all branches of science.

The material will be exhibited in the proposed Hall of Asiatic Life in the American Museum of Natural History, which it is hoped the city will add to the Museum buildings in the near future. At the present time if one wishes seriously to study Asiatic zoology one must go to the British Museum of London. It is hoped that this expedition will bring to New York the greatest natural history collections which the world has ever seen and will make New York the center of Asiatic scientific activity.

One of the reasons why so little is known of the fossils of China and interior Asia is that material of this sort is of considerable value to the Chinese. Fossils are supposed to have wonderful medicinal qualities. They are known as "dragon's bones" and whenever a fossil yielding locality has been found, it is carefully concealed. Nevertheless during the last three years Dr. J. G. Andersson, Mining Adviser to the Chinese Republic, has been carrying on investigations on behalf of Swedish institutions and has made some remarkable discoveries. Dr. Andersson is practically the first scientist who has ever collected fossils personally in China.

We know almost as little about some of the living natives of Asia as about the fossil history of the country. Long before the Chinese arrived, China was inhabited by aboriginal tribes, which were pushed south and west just as the Indians were driven westward by the white men when they advanced across the American continent. The remnants of a nearly thirty of these ancient races, such as the Lolo, Mosos, Lisos and others, are rapidly disappearing and yet almost nothing is known of their origin, life or customs.

Keep Chinese Out. Although many of the aborigines were scattered among the mountains of Yunnan and Kweichow and along the Tibetan frontier, the Lolo still maintain an independent territory in Suchuan, one of the richest and most populous provinces of China. No Chinese is permitted to cross the intricate lines of their "kingdom" without the probability of incurring a violent death. Continual raids are carried on back and forth along the border. Perhaps the Chinese will capture a score or more of Lolo who have ventured to glimpse the world beyond their wild hills and valleys. In retaliation, a few nights later, the Lolo will burn a whole Chinese village, kill all the men and carry the women into slavery. Thus the Lolo have earned a reputation as barbaric savages. And yet a French explorer who crossed their territory, properly "chaperoned," reports them to be a charming people, of hospitable temper and high mentality. He is one of the few scientists who have penetrated the land of the Lolo and live to tell the tale. Mr. Andrews, who has hunted with Lolo in Yunnan, found them independent, to be sure, but delightful in their native courage and simplicity.

He says: "It is impossible not to be interested in this strange people. They are totally unlike the Chinese. They are tall and slender, with long faces and patrician noses, and they show every indication of Caucasian blood. If they have it, where did it come from? This is one of the questions that should be answered before the Lolo disappear, as the other tribes as rapidly doing."

There are many reasons why Central Asia has remained scientifically unexplored for so long a time. It is so remote and difficult of access that the cost of conducting work on the large scale is enormous. Moreover, the country and its inhabitants present unusual obstacles to scientific research. Not only are there vast, intersecting mountain chains, waterless deserts and treeless plains, but in many parts the climate is too cold for effective work in winter. In some places the natives are exceedingly suspicious of foreigners; religious superstitions greatly hinder research and make it decidedly dangerous.

Chinese Superstitions. The Chinese have many superstitions regarding the ground. The spirits of the earth, wind, sun, moon, water, must always be favorable before a burial takes place, and it is exceedingly unlucky to disturb the ground in the region of a cemetery. Though our paleontologists are certain to encounter difficulties in the more settled portions, they can probably overcome them by tact and a proper understanding of the situation. Those in charge of railroads and other commercial projects that have involved digging in China have always been able to compromise with protesting villagers and they have found even within the past ten years a very great change in attitude. In Tibet conditions are even more difficult. All the gold in the country belongs to the Lama church and the natives can be convinced of only two reasons why foreigners should come to their country—either as gold-seekers or as missionaries.

Obtaining the animals for the groups in the Hall of Asiatic Life will furnish excitement enough for the most blasé sportsman. In a corner of the Gobi desert are a few herds of the only living wild horses. Moreover, there are, in the Gobi, wild camels and wild asses, as well as antelopes that can run sixty miles an hour. The horses, asses and antelopes can be run down in motor cars, lassoed by the Mongol cowboys, and some of the specimens brought back alive to the New York Zoological Park. Not far from this particular part of the desert, mountains tower to a height of fifteen thousand feet, where there are big-horn sheep and ibex that have never heard the crack of a high-power rifle. On the Tibetan steppes are enormous yak, snow leopards, giant pandas and beautiful golden monkeys with blue, upturned noses; some of these species are among the rarest and least known animals of the world. In China is the takin, a creature with a veritable "golden fleece," a strange gillie and a marmot that roams the highest mountain ranges and that actually represents an intermediate stage between the antelope and the goat. In the forests of Manchuria is the long-haired deer of the Amur River; a tiger larger and fiercer than the royal Bengal of India, fame, which has furnished sport for kings and emperors; a tiger living in caves amid forests draped deep with snow.

The scientific results of the third Asiatic expedition will be embodied in a series of volumes that should be, for many years to come, the standard work on the natural history of Central and Eastern Asia, and also in popular books written in non-technical language.

Would Help China. There is a very real desire on the part of the sponsors for the expedition to make it a factor in the development of the educational life of the Chinese Republic. China has no institutions wherein natural history objects can be studied and exhibited by modern methods and where the scientific work of her own people can be encouraged and directed. It was therefore decided to invite the Chinese government to co-operate with the expedition in carrying on its work in the Orient. China will be invited to delegate to the expedition certain men who have had already preliminary instruction in various branches of science; under the best specialists in the world, these men, while in the field, will receive training in modern methods of scientific exploration and study.

When the expedition has been completed, its sponsors will agree to deposit in Peking a duplicate set of the collections, which will form the basis of the Chinese Museum of Natural History. The proposed institution will then have a valuable nucleus of specimens for exhibition and study and a staff of expert Chinese to carry on the work. It will remain for the government to set aside a suitable building where the collections can be housed.

Ostrich Chick Whips House Cat and Dog

Vancouver, B. C.—Jonathan, the first ostrich chick hatched in Canada, is progressing under the care of Zoo Manager F. Green in Stanley park. It was at first believed that the valuable bird could not live and it was taken from its parents and placed in the Green home. Appearance of weakness proved deceptive, for Jonathan quickly licked the house cat and secured a decision over the family spaniel.

In a corner of the Gobi desert are a few herds of the only living wild horses. Moreover, there are, in the Gobi, wild camels and wild asses, as well as antelopes that can run sixty miles an hour. The horses, asses and antelopes can be run down in motor cars, lassoed by the Mongol cowboys, and some of the specimens brought back alive to the New York Zoological Park. Not far from this particular part of the desert, mountains tower to a height of fifteen thousand feet, where there are big-horn sheep and ibex that have never heard the crack of a high-power rifle. On the Tibetan steppes are enormous yak, snow leopards, giant pandas and beautiful golden monkeys with blue, upturned noses; some of these species are among the rarest and least known animals of the world. In China is the takin, a creature with a veritable "golden fleece," a strange gillie and a marmot that roams the highest mountain ranges and that actually represents an intermediate stage between the antelope and the goat. In the forests of Manchuria is the long-haired deer of the Amur River; a tiger larger and fiercer than the royal Bengal of India, fame, which has furnished sport for kings and emperors; a tiger living in caves amid forests draped deep with snow.

The scientific results of the third Asiatic expedition will be embodied in a series of volumes that should be, for many years to come, the standard work on the natural history of Central and Eastern Asia, and also in popular books written in non-technical language.

Would Help China. There is a very real desire on the part of the sponsors for the expedition to make it a factor in the development of the educational life of the Chinese Republic. China has no institutions wherein natural history objects can be studied and exhibited by modern methods and where the scientific work of her own people can be encouraged and directed. It was therefore decided to invite the Chinese government to co-operate with the expedition in carrying on its work in the Orient. China will be invited to delegate to the expedition certain men who have had already preliminary instruction in various branches of science; under the best specialists in the world, these men, while in the field, will receive training in modern methods of scientific exploration and study.

When the expedition has been completed, its sponsors will agree to deposit in Peking a duplicate set of the collections, which will form the basis of the Chinese Museum of Natural History. The proposed institution will then have a valuable nucleus of specimens for exhibition and study and a staff of expert Chinese to carry on the work. It will remain for the government to set aside a suitable building where the collections can be housed.

THIEF "BEGS PARDON"

Proofreader Led Him Gently to Door and Told Him to Go.
Instead of shooting him or treating him rough, Reuben E. Folmer, proofreader on a newspaper at Norristown, Pa., led a burglar gently to the door and told him to begone. Then Folmer telephoned police headquarters what he had done and if a policeman was sent the burglar might be caught coming down the street.

That was at 3 o'clock in the morning. Folmer's wife had discovered a man on the second floor of their home, 1318 Main street. Folmer sprang from bed, believing the man when he said he had made a mistake and apologized.

Later it was discovered the burglar had broken into the house through a window. Nothing was taken.

FIND HIDDEN JEWELRY

May Receive $5,000 Reward for Recovering $10,000 Worth of Loot.

Jewelry valued at $10,000 was found by two rabbit hunters at Woodland's lake, near Tarrytown, N. Y., where it had been hidden under a rock by burglars who robbed the home of David Luke, in Tarrytown, July 17.

The hunters may receive a reward of $5,000 offered for evidence leading to conviction. Leroy Green, a negro, is in custody charged with the theft of the jewels.

RUSSIAN COTTON INDUSTRY RUINED

Bolshevik Management Has Practically Killed One of Country's Greatest Assets.

MANY MILLS ARE STOPPED

Doubt Expressed That They Will Ever Start Up Again—With Experts Gone Unskilled Labor Has Ruined Most of Machinery.

London.—Russia's great prewar cotton industry has suffered to such an extent during the revolution that it is doubtful whether many of the mills ever will be able to operate again, says Sir Charles Macara, an English authority in the world's cotton trade, in an interview in the Yorkshire Post.

Based upon information obtained from an Englishman who recently returned from Russia, where for fourteen years he was the manager of a large cotton factory near Moscow, Sir Charles estimates that of the 9,000,000 spindles running in Russia before the revolution not more than 200,000 or 300,000 are now operating.

English Manager Gives Facts. The experiences of the English manager of the Moscow factory were told as an example of the methods employed by the revolutionists in dealing with one of Russia's great industrial assets, the textile factories in the Moscow district. This particular mill carried on all the processes from cotton spinning to the finished product, 17,000 workers having been employed under normal operating conditions.

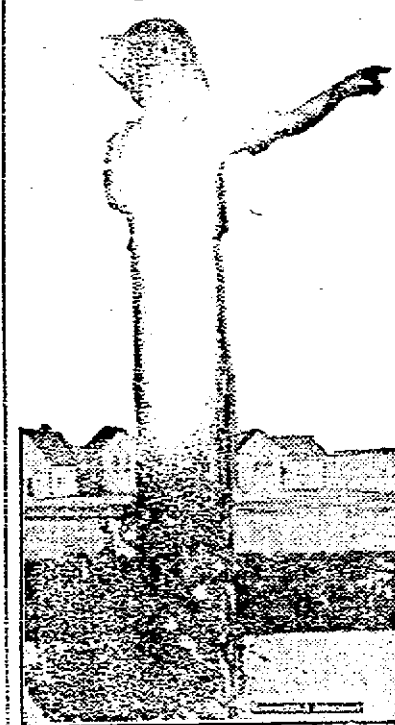

When the Bolsheviks assumed power the whole cotton industry was nationalized. At every mill committees were formed and finally, in October, 1919, a decree was issued that all who had been connected with the former owners would have to leave.

Mills All Stopped. With the experts gone the mill stopped. After a time attempts were made to restart it, but it was almost impossible to obtain raw cotton. Small quantities were obtained, which, after being diluted with 75 per cent waste, was put through the processes.

The machinery now is in a very bad state, in such a state, in fact, that it would be almost impossible to operate the factory properly, according to the information given Sir Charles. Whenever machines are damaged other machines are denuded of parts to repair them.

Sir Charles stated that there was little possibility of English workmen going to Russia for employment in textile factories. Mills in Germany and Austria were turning out only from 25 to 30 per cent of the normal production, he said, and English workers faced the almost impossible task of making up for the four and one-half years' stoppage of textile manufacture owing to the war.

UNIQUE SIGN POST

Instead of the conventional sign: "School, Slow Down!" this striking sign post, carved from the stump of a tree, has been set up by an English town and is never fails to attract attention and cause a reduction in speed.

Organized to Fight Plant Pests. The Plant Protection institute is the name of a body formed recently for the purpose of waging relentless war on the pests that afflict field and orchard crops, shade trees and ornamental plants. This it will do by supporting and directing scientific research, by fostering co-operation between investigators and manufacturers, and by disseminating information about the control of plant insects and diseases. The members are all scientific experts or manufacturers of the insecticides, fungicides, apparatus, etc. used in this work of extermination.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

Anti "Reds" Riots in Petrograd. Serious anti-Bolshevik rioting is taking place in Petrograd. Six of the Bolshevik commissioners have been drowned in the Neva river, while the others have been compelled to seek places of refuge. The riots followed news of the defeat of the soviet forces.

Thermometer Deterioration. Even thermometers become old, and consequently inaccurate with age, mercurial instruments reading too high and spirit instruments too low. In the former case the bulb appears to shrink, thus forcing the quicksilver too far up the stem. This gradual shrinkage is supposed to be due to the fact that the external pressure on the bulb may be considerably higher than the internal pressure, the air as far as possible having been removed before the glass is sealed. On the other hand, the spirit thermometer is sealed with the bulb covered in a freezing mixture, in order to lock up in the glass as much air as possible. The instrument thus starts with the internal pressure which, as time appears to be reduced either by expansion of the glass under the internal pressure or by leakage.—Scientific American.

FINNISH HUSBANDS FOR HIRE

Russian Women Engage Them to Get Out of Country—Business Is Lucrative.

Viborg, Finland.—Hiring Finnish men to marry Russian women to enable the latter to get out of Russia has become a popular and lucrative business in the border towns south of Viborg. The Finns exact a high price, but the method is infallible. It makes a Finnish subject of the woman, and is recognized as lawful by the two countries, which have assumed diplomatic relations.

These newly-married couples come out of Russia into Riasjoke, the frontier town not more than thirty miles from Petrograd, with the daily exodus of Swedish and Finnish refugees.

Birds' "Love Dance."

On some of the islands of the Pacific, in tropical South America, is found the beautiful bird known as the jacana. It is famous for its so-called love dances, which appear to be executed by the males to excite the admiration of the female birds. When the mating season approaches the jacana will single out its favorite lady and try to win her admiration with all its bewitching maneuvers. In the dance the wings are spread and worked in such a manner that the beautiful colored feathers produce a brilliant effect.
